Rootless Living Magazine Announces First Annual National Digital Nomad Day

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE - August 3, 2020

ELKHART, INDIANA: Rootless Living Magazine announced the 1st Annual National Digital Nomad Day being held on August 8, 2020. Rootless Living, the Nation's premier publication that teaches, encourages, and inspires readers to live a nomadic lifestyle, also announced the entire month of August as Digital Nomad Month.

Digital Nomads are remote workers who usually travel to different locations. They can be found working in their traveling homes, coffee shops, co-working spaces or public libraries. Digital nomads rely on devices with wireless internet capabilities like smartphones and mobile hotspots in order to do their work wherever they want. Their modes of transportation can vary, but there are over one million individuals and families who travel, work, and live in a vehicle. The most popular choice is some form of recreational vehicle or van, but digital nomads have found ways to travel and work from motorcycles, boats, and airplanes.

Digital Nomad Day is a day set aside each year where nomads can share, celebrate, and learn what it means to be a digital nomad. With more American's joining the remote workforce, many are looking to find a way to experience everything this country has to offer.

Digital nomads can celebrate their lifestyle on this first annual Digital Nomad Day virtual event by sharing why they chose this lifestyle and what led them to chase the new American Dream. Rootless Living Magazine is encouraging nomads to share and use the hashtag #DigitalNomadDay as a way to connect with other nomads and the community.

Rootless Living Magazine will host an in-person rally in 2021 with local meet-ups across the country for digital nomads to meet and connect with their community.
